

2018 | Global GS1 Healthcare Conference
30 Oct - 1 Nov | Bangkok, Thailand

Safer, more efficient care starts with a simple scan

Safer, more efficient care starts with a simple scan

Join us for the GS1 Healthcare Conference in Bangkok, Thailand, from 30 October to 1 November, 2018. Healthcare leaders—from every part of the supply chain and from around the world—will gather to share how GS1 standards are helping them to solve some of healthcare's toughest challenges.

Falsified medicines and medical errors continue to cause health issues for patients of all ages and in all regions. And the fast growing and ageing population combined with new technologies increase the total cost of healthcare. Securing the supply chain through a traceability system is one of the tools to help prevent substandard and falsified medicines reaching the patients whilst contributing to supply chain efficiencies and thereby reducing costs. This is where GS1 standards play an important role.

GS1 standards are being used today by the vast majority of medical device manufacturers to support implementation of the UDI (Unique Device Identification) requirements.

Healthcare providers across the world are increasingly using GS1 standards in clinical processes for improved patient care—in operating theatres, labs, pharmacies and more. They are improving the patient experience while at the same time also ensuring greater efficiencies—all with help from GS1 standards.

Take part in the GS1 Healthcare Conference this fall in Bangkok.

- Hear from healthcare leaders who will share their experiences with implementations of GS1 standards
- Discuss the latest regulatory requirements and what they mean for all stakeholders
- Enjoy a unique, neutral environment in which you can network and learn from your peers

Most importantly, become part of a united community that is working together to help transform healthcare for the benefit of patients worldwide.
