GS1 in Technical Industries

- emerging sector within GS1 @ global level
- that will initially focus on the use of GS1 identifiers in specific business processes
- between and within interconnected sectors, which are:
  - Defence
  - Energy (fossil, nuclear, renewable)
  - Engineering (machine and plant building)
  - Mass transit (aerospace, automotive, maritime, rail)
  - Mining

- The business processes in focus are:
  - Spare Parts Management (incl. Inventory),
  - Smart Industry / Digital Factory (aka Industry 4.0 / Smart Manufacturing / Connected Industry),
  - Maintenance & Repair Operations (MRO) and
  - Direct Parts Marking (DPM)

- Out of scope: B2C and finished consumer products, Transportation services, Raw materials

What Technical Industries is...

...from a Supply Chain point of view

...from a Product Lifecycle point of view